“Training them to reach their own”

January 15, 2010

Dear Pastor and Church,

A blessed New Year’s greetings to you! Thank God for giving us another year of opportunities to work in His field. Great was His grace and mercy in 2009 that we were able to accomplish tasks for Him. Praise Him for His mighty acts!

Thank you Pastor and Church for helping me and the ministry through your prayers and financial support. It’s my desire and prayer that God would use me more productively in reaching souls and building them up till these souls would come to serve our Lord and King. Let me share some of the blessings in 2009.

A lady, who was working in the mission field, got a mess in her life. She had fallen into sin. Because of that situation she was stripped off of support and was left by herself. She was like a floating drift wood, not knowing where to go, no financial assistance at all. In her time of need God led her to some friends where she could rest and eat. I thanked God that He allowed our paths to cross and I was able to deal with her. She was bitter and rebellious because of the circumstances she had met. God had struck my heart with these questions. “Who would care for such a wounded soldier like her? Would she just be left alone in bitterness and sin and die? Yes, she had fallen into sin but how can we help restore her? “With God’s love, mercy and grace as we study His Word, she had come to a conviction to confess and renounce every sin and bitterness. Then she got the courage to go back to church.

One Sunday after the evening service, God had convicted her through His Word that she was not saved at all. She realized that her profession of faith was only an emotional experience. She realized too that God so loved her despite of her sins and mess. She got saved and was baptized the following Sunday. Now, she is faithfully serving the Lord in our church.

What a lesson to learn! What a great joy to see a fallen sister restored and repaired spiritually! Praise our God who loves sinners, heals, restores wounded souls, forgives and forgets our iniquities and gives us chance to know Him more.

My first lady disciple, Diep, who is now a pastor’s wife, is currently finishing her education course in the university. Her testimony was a blessing to me as well as to her schoolmates. Diep does excel academically but her spiritual life shines radiantly that her classmates were attracted to her way of life. She made a difference in character, beliefs, attitudes, and outlooks. Her classmates, even her teacher interrogated her faith. Her very own teacher, because of Diep’s Biblical views, was convicted to reveal her

Christian identity that she had kept for years. Praise God she had the courage to share Jesus Christ and our Christian faith to them.

She was also overwhelmed on how God gave her the wisdom to organize a Women's Fellowship one Saturday. There were more than a hundred who attended. An Australian visitor sponsored the gifts which made Diep very thankful to her and to God.

What a blessing to have a disciple who becomes a co-laborer in the ministry of God! It's my prayer to produce more workers who can help us here in Cambodia. Our discipleship class continues every Wednesday and Thursday.

May our Lord God continue to give us wisdom, strength, protection, and people to minister unto.

Your co-laborer in the field,

Sis. Amy (Amuerfina M. Delalamon)
